

SLU 1818

Everything You Need to Know

Saint Louis University's 1818 Advanced College Credit Program

Earn college credit right in the high school classroom

We believe students who demonstrate significant academic drive should have the opportunity to get an accessible head start on their college career at an affordable price.

With the help of over 90 partner high schools across the globe, our program provides a quality college-level experience for more than 7,000 students every year.

A quality academic experience

SLU 1818 courses are similar to those offered on a college campus. Courses can be semesterlong or yearlong and are taught by accredited high school educators.

How is this different from AP or IB?

At the end of the 1818 course, the student receives a grade that reflected on an official SLU transcript. The student may send this transcript to the college or university of their choice when they are ready to transfer their credits. There is no formal examination conducted -- the student takes the course as they would on a college campus.

Who is eligible to participate?

It should be noted that expectations for program participants are high. Qualifying 1818 high school courses maintain the same rigor and demands as courses taught on campus. While our program is mostly open to just juniors and seniors with a GPA 3.0 or higher, certain exceptions may qualify some of our younger students to participate. To see if 1818 is a good fit for you, please reach out to your high school's 1818 coordinator or contact us at 1818@slu.edu.

Cost

$75

Per credit hour (with most of our classes running at 3 or 4 credit hours each)

Transferability

500+

reported number of colleges that accept 1818 credit

GPA

3.0

minimum GPA required to participate (sophomores and must consult with their advisor before applying)

Upon completion of the program, each 1818 student has an official SLU transcript listing all of their 1818 coursework. This transcript can be easily sent to the student's university of choice to receive credit for their courses.

While our credits transfer most places, it is up to each university to decide if they will accept 1818 credits. Students are responsible for checking to see if 1818 coursework will transfer to their university of choice before registering.

Ready to register? Get started here:

