Thought for the Week from S.A.D.D.: About 70%, according to one recent survey, have texted or scanned smartphones behind the wheel. A new study aims to explain why teens, who account for 10% of fatal highway crashes due to distracted driving, are distracted by their devices and how often they're using them. Mostly we can blame the pressure to be constantly connected reports Liberty Mutual Insurance and Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD). In other words, the slang term FOMO, an acronym for "fear of missing out," is more than just a mantra. It actually has a tangible impact on teen driving, according to their survey of 1,622 high school juniors and seniors around the country.

Serendipity, Ramapo's literary and art magazine, is still accepting submissions of short stories, poetry, non-fiction, creative writing, original lyrics, drama, etc, for this year's edition. Submit your work electronically to Mr. Manzo at wmanzo@rih.org
